Throughout my career, I have consistently demonstrated a strong aptitude for architecting scalable and efficient ML/AI systems. As a Senior Machine Learning Engineer at AMD, I led the development and deployment of cutting-edge AI models that optimized GPU performance, resulting in a remarkable 15% improvement in processing efficiency across key product lines. I also implemented robust quality control protocols and automated monitoring systems, which reduced critical errors by 20% in production environments.

Prior to AMD, I served as a Machine Learning Engineer at NVIDIA, where I developed and deployed real-time image recognition and natural language processing models, achieving a 25% improvement in data processing speeds. I also contributed to the development of custom ML/AI tools, integrating advanced statistical algorithms and techniques for feature engineering and model evaluation.

Earlier in my career, I worked as an AI Developer at Google, where I developed core AI components for Google Cloud services, focusing on predictive analytics and anomaly detection. I also collaborated on web development projects, building user interfaces to expose ML model functionalities and insights to internal stakeholders.

With my extensive experience in developing and deploying state-of-the-art AI and ML solutions, I am confident in my ability to make a significant impact as the Lead Software Engineer at Vercel.
